   Response: Yes.

3. How many finish coats are you requiring for each of the items listed in the scope of work?

5. On the “General Requirements and Notes”, item 5 mentions that “the contractor is responsible for calculating and verifying linear and square feet of all areas before bidding.” Does that mean that you would like us to list the square feet associated with each line item to demonstrate that we are aware of the measurements of each?

   Response: No.

If so, will you have the rough estimate of each to compare to the measurements?

   Response: No.
Will the accuracy of the measurements from each contractor play a role in determining their bid’s eligibility?

Response: Accurate estimating by the contractor is expected.

6. Many of the rooms have concrete ceilings that are currently painted, are those included in the scope of work for each office where they are currently?

Response: Concrete ceilings are not to be painted – all drop ceilings are.

7. The Scope of Work for the offices says to “patch, sand, prime and paint”. What substrates in those rooms are included in that scope of work (for example previously painted walls, all walls, trim, certain ceilings, all ceilings, etc.)?

Response: Walls, drop ceilings, trim – no interior doors

8. Some of the smaller rooms looked like offices that are currently occupied with personal belongings throughout. In these types of offices, what will be the responsibility of the contractor to remove, move, and/or move back?

Also, in regards to any moving that may be the responsibility of the contractors, will all things need to be moved back into place by the end of that work day shift?

Response: Yes.

9. Will any/all tack boards, bulletin boards, or white boards in the rooms be required to be removed prior to painting?

Response: Yes.

If so, who will be responsible for that moving?

Response: The painters.

Also, if they are going to be removed, will the holes/screws used for them need to be patched and painted over or are they to remain as is?

Response: Patched & Painted

10. What will be the contractor’s responsibility for the letters and numbers that are currently located on the doors painted surfaces?
