Subject: Web portal

Hello David,

I just spoke to our India development and Quality Control Center. The web portal that is being built is a custom portal only for you folks. The complexity of the one envisioned for you has extensive modules that needs to be built and integrated to ensure that the content information is correct and is tamper proof, the data input for order quotes to be generated and emails sent to different parties like yourself takes a lot of building and programing into the data base. When we built the one for County of Monterey It took over 60 days to get it perfect.

In the mean time we have to add all the departments at the four colleges into the database which is to be used for tracking department purchase requests, quotes generated and finally after the P.O. is been issued to enter the P.O. and track systems. The web site is not just a product view site. Sometimes it takes time to built one which would be extensively used for the future and makes it a report generating system to track all orders processed, by department and by colleges.

I sent you the basic format document for you to put it in the IT web site till our's comes on line. I promise you once completed it will be high appreciated within your department and the IT folks at the different colleges. I want to make the process full proof and easy to use by all your potential users.

Let you be assured we are working expeditiously to get this completed as quickly as possible. I would not want a defective web portal put in place where the users will not be happy.

I would sincerely appreciate your patience to ensure we have a fully integrated web portal for quote generation and order processing to your approval. I will try to reach you tomorrow AM.

Thanks
